Dear Parishioners,

In this fifth reflection on the changes to the Roman Missal, I would like to discuss the ending of Mass. You will notice that the ending of a book or movie ties in all the loose ends of the story. It is also the place we find the meaning or viewpoint of the creator. The ending of Mass is very similar. We call the Liturgy "Mass" from the Latin ending "Ite Missa est" (Go, you are dismissed). This now becomes our command; we are called to go forth.

This command is not a condescending command as a monarch would remark to a lesser subject. It is not just a statement that tells us to leave, we are done. It is much more. It is rather a commissioning, as we find in the Scriptures. When Jesus is about to ascend to the Father on Ascension Thursday, He commissions the Disciples to "Go forth to all the nations." It is in this sense that the deacon or priest sends forth the gathered Assembly.

It is in this tone that the changes of the Roman Missal offer us some options for the Dismissal Rite. The priest or deacon now says "The Mass is ended, go in peace." There are now four options in the Roman Missal. The first two are similar to what we say now "Go in peace" and "Go forth, the Mass is ended." Hear how the "Go forth" conveys much of that sense of being sent.

There are two wonderful options that Pope Benedict XVI insisted be added. The first of these is "Go and announce the Gospel of the Lord." The second is just as beautiful "Go in peace, glorifying the Lord by your life."

I love these two additions. They speak of the urgency and call that each of us has as disciples of Jesus. We are commissioned to take what we have experienced in our worship and this action of our faith in Jesus as Lord of all, and bring it to our families, friends and to the world at large. As Jesus told those gathered on the mountain at the Ascension, He also tells us... "teach all nations." The joy we experienced is now the joy we must share. So you see, the work of Divine Worship doesn't end when we walk out the doors of Church, but becomes how we live each day. We are the bearers of the Message of hope that Jesus offers us. We take the Gospel with us when we leave Mass. What a great reminder these two new dismissal become for us, and what a great blessing if we truly live it.

So what we have seen is that the changes are a reflection of a deeper and truer translation from the original Latin. That Latin will connect us to the larger Church so that, as Catholics, we can worship with one heart and one voice. We also see that this translation contains within it closer references to Sacred Scripture, and like Scripture, a more poetic language. A language that can engage us into a deeper relationship with God. We also see that the language is more formal and that is NOT ordinary but rather raises the heart to the transcendence of God.

Will the new Roman Missal, as beautiful as it is, be without problems? No, of course not. It will take us some time to become familiar with them. BUT the hope is that the words and prayers will reveal more of God to us, if we are open. So be patient. Anything new is always a challenge. Maybe it is also a time to think about our own relationship with Mass. How we come, what we do and what it does to us. Let us continue the discussion, especially in our own prayer life.

In Jesus,
Fr. Bob

ST. BONIFACE MARTYR YOUTH GROUP

For an updated schedule of youth group events for the summer please join our Facebook page 'St. Boniface Martyr Youth Group' or email the youth minister, Chris, at stbonym@gmail.com.

Dean or Vicar Forane

During the summer Bishop Murphy appointed Father Bob to be the area Dean. The Latin title of this position under Canon law is Vicar Forane ("country vicar") or archpriest. To assist the Diocesan Bishop in the oversight of parishes and of the clergy staffing those parishes, the 134 parishes of the Diocese of Rockville Centre are organized geographically into Deaneries. St. Boniface Martyr is part of the Oyster Bay Deanery, which includes nine parishes. Among the Dean's responsibilities are to represent the Diocesan Bishop (a) at the installation of pastors within the deanery, (b) in checking that the sacramental registers in each parish are being properly maintained, and (c) in visiting the parishes to ensure that the priests in the deanery have the spiritual assistance and material help that they need and that they are effectively and properly engaged in their ministerial activities in communion with the Diocesan Bishop. The Dean also is to promote and coordinate common pastoral activities in the deanery and to engage the ideas of the local priests and present those ideas to the Diocesan Bishop. (See Canons 553-555) Although this added responsibility does not come with any increase in pay, the formal written title of the person serving as the Vicar Forane is "Very Reverend" with the initials V.F. following the person's name, i.e., Very Reverend Robert A. Romeo, V.F., Pastor.
