ROSARY

Monday-Saturday after 8am Mass in the Chapel.

Curious, and somewhat disappointed, the young man opened the box and found a lovely, leather-bound Bible, with the young man's name embossed in gold. Angry, he raised his voice at his father and said, "With all your money, you give me a Bible?" and stormed out of the house. Many years passed and the young man was very successful in business. He had a beautiful home and a wonderful family, but realized his father was very old, and thought perhaps he should go to him. He had not seen him since that graduation day. Before he could make arrangements, he received a telegram telling him his father had passed away, and willed all of his possessions to his son. He needed to come home immediately and take care of things.

When he arrived at his father's house, sudden sadness and regret filled his heart. He began to search through his father's important papers and saw the still gift-wrapped Bible, just as he had left it years ago. With tears, he opened the Bible and began to turn the pages. His father had carefully underlined a verse, Matt. 7:11, "And if ye, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Heavenly Father which is in Heaven, give to those who ask Him?" As he read those words, a car key dropped from the back of the Bible. It had a tag with the dealer's name, the same dealer who had the sports car he had desired. On the tag was the date of his graduation, and the words PAID IN FULL. Sometimes our talk about God and Faith with our children and grandchildren might make us unpopular with our children, just as the father in the story was unpopular with his son because He gave Him a Bible, but that should not deter us.

There are many joys in working with the youth and I must say I love it there. There is so much hope for the future of the church. There is joy in their hearts, and determination in the eyes of the university students when they attend programmes that we organize in the chaplaincy. They have a store of ideas and it is always a joy listening to them. They make me stay young. Of course I still am. There are a number of spiritual formation programmes. Once a week I organize teachings for the students. This forum allows them to ask their doctrinal and faith questions. Aside this as a full time chaplain I visit the students in their halls of residence and interact with them. It gives the Catholic students so much joy when I visit them and they tend to tell their friends from other denominations how close knit we are. It is my way of staying in touch with them and breaking barriers. When they see me not just as a priest but also as a friend, they are able to share more of their life stories, their joys and sorrows, happiness and tears with me. In that case I am able to help them on a personal level. It is a joy to note that at the last count we had about a 280-student regular attendance at the Blessed Sacrament Chapel. They gave an hour of their week to God and spent it in adoration of the Blessed Sacrament. It might interest you to know that sometimes we have non-Catholics visiting the Blessed Sacrament Chapel for prayer. Let us love our Eucharist. It is the visible presence of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in our midst. We have a number of societies and groups in the chaplaincy namely the Choir, Sacred Heart, Charismatic Renewal, Altar Servers, Lectors, Ushers, Catholic Youth Organization, Choreography group, Music Ministry.

I minister to about 1,500 students in the chaplaincy. To facilitate pastoral care, they are also organized into their halls of residence. We have a weekly meeting called "cell meetings". At such gatherings students in the same hall meet and organize Bible discussions, quizzes, "it takes 2" and many other programmes. Their spirituality and moral formation is my utmost concern. It is an enormous task but I find strength in God and in my youthfulness. My joy is seeing the student's spiritually fulfilled. On my ordination day, which will be 10 years in December, my prayer was Lord, keep my lamp burning. May it be a ray of hope for someone travelling in the dark. This is my prayer still and it is my motivation as well.

For Sunday Masses, I enjoy the support of brother priests who lecture in the University, one in the Sociology Department, another at the Institute of African Studies and another colleague who comes from the St. Paul's Catholic Seminary to offer support. While I am here, they are holding the fort and are taking care of the pastoral needs of the parishioners of the Chaplaincy.

The programmes in the chaplaincy are not all only spiritual. We also organize programmes, which links the students up with the corporate world. Every semester we have a program dubbed "time with corporate bodies" during which business organizations are contacted to come and interact with students. It gives the students the chance to have a bird's eye view of what is expected from them on the job market. Every semester we have cell-games and other activities aimed at socialization.

To be continued...

Prepare the Word

SUNDAY, JULY 8

Prophets can be annoying, always harping about change, so it shouldn't be surprising that Jesus' message—"Repent! Change your heart!"—was not popular. In our own day, we are bombarded by messages of all kinds by those who claim to have unique insights into what constitutes a good and successful life. As a member of a thinking and holy people, your responsibility is twofold: first, to have a healthy skepticism unafraid to challenge cultural assumptions; and second, to be open—you could be wrong! Most of all, pray about these messages in the quiet presence of the Holy Spirit who helps you to discern the true prophets of your time. They may not be the ones you expect.

MONDAY, JULY 9

FEAST OF ST. AUGUSTINE ZHAO RONG & COMPANIONS

Augustine Zhao Rong was a soldier who accompanied Bishop John Taurin Dufresse from Chengdu to Beijing in China. Zhao Rong was so impressed by the bishop's patience during the trip that he asked to be baptized. Eventually Zhao Rong was ordained a priest but was later arrested, tortured, and martyred, along with 119 others, in 1815. We can never know how our actions affect those around us. Zhao Rong was moved by Bishop Dufresse's forbearance, which surely was an outward sign of the latter's complete faith in Jesus Christ. Today, take some time to consider what those closest to you would say is the outward sign of your faith.

TUESDAY, JULY 10

Many of us associate the prophet Hosea with the sweet-sounding song "Come Back to Me," beloved of penance services. His life, however, was anything but sugar-coated. He challenged the people of Israel, seduced by false gods, by allowing his own life to become the medium of his message. By God's instruction Hosea married a prostitute, and, though she abandoned him for other men, he kept loving her, sought her out, forgave her, and brought her back. He warned the leaders of his day to stop prostituting themselves and assured them of God's enduring mercy. He allowed his very life to mirror the mercy of God. In some real way the life of every Christian must reflect the one who commanded, "Love one another."

WEDNESDAY, JULY 11

FEAST OF ST. BENEDICT, ABBOT

The main elements of Saint Benedict's famous monastic rule are sleep, prayer, and manual labor.

Chapter 48 of the Rule states: "Idleness is the enemy of the soul. Therefore, the brothers should have specified periods for manual labor as well as for prayerful reading. . . . They must not become distressed if local conditions or their poverty should force them to do the harvesting themselves. When they live by the labor of their hands, as our fathers and the apostles did, then they are really monks. Yet, all things are to be done with moderation on account of the fainthearted." Remember Benedict's concern for moderation. It is the key to all aspects of Christian piety.

THURSDAY, JULY 12

When Jesus sent out the apostles on mission, he gave them specific instructions. The message: Proclaim the good news that the Kingdom of God is at hand. The work: As signs of that Kingdom, restore people to life and health. The means: utter dependence on God and the hospitality of others. All these things he told the apostles to do, he did himself—and he asks you to do today. What are the ways you can continue this mission?

FRIDAY, JULY 13

FEAST OF ST. HENRY

In addition to being named Holy Roman Emperor, Henry II (d.1024) is also known by an even more exalted title: Saint Henry. He was a child of violent times and did his share of warring but somehow found his way to holiness. What made him different from your standard Dark Age despot? Perhaps his early experiences of living in exile had an impact. He knew what it was to be cast out, and this experience may have touched his heart in a way that drew him closer to Christ. All paths can lead to holiness if you keep your heart open. All you need to do is cast out fear!

SATURDAY, JULY 14

FEAST OF ST. KATERI TEKAKWITHA

The young indigenous American woman the church remembers today took quite a chance in following the promptings of her heart and spirit by becoming a Christian. She was already different among her Mohawk tribe, not interested in the activities of her peers nor in finding a husband, and her conversion to the Catholic faith only accented her separateness. She tried to keep the whole thing quiet, but other members of her Mohawk community, who liked celebrations, turned out for her baptism on Easter Sunday in 1676. Eventually she did have to leave her people to live in a Christian mission, but her courage, faith, serenity, and sense of service, both as a Mohawk holy woman and a saintly Christian, shined through all the circumstances of her life. Those qualities can do the same in yours.
