ROSARY

Monday-Saturday after 8am Mass in the Chapel.

Dear Parishioners,

I am so happy to welcome back Fr. Ebenezer, who will be staying with us this summer. In the past he offered to write some of the letters for the bulletin. They were well received by the parish. I have asked him again to take on this task. I think Fr Ebenezer has a lot of wonderful and spiritual insights that we can all benefit from. It is also good for the parish to hear from someone besides myself.

I am pleased to announce that Fr. Ebenezer's bishop has made him Vicar Forane (Dean) in his area. I am so happy for Fr. Ebenezer and those entrusted to his pastoral care. My only concern is that there now may be some tension and vying for Dean'power in the Rectory. You know what its like when you put 2 deans together! :-)

In Jesus,
Fr. Bob

It is always a pleasure to be back to St. Boniface Catholic Church. I want to thank in a special way the Pastor, Very Rev. Fr. Robert Romeo for continually extending to me the warmest invitation that enables me to come over during the summer months. I know that his invitation is your invitation as well and for this I am very grateful. As I enplaned from Ghana through Heathrow (London) to JFK (New York) my mind went to my previous visits to this wonderful parish in 2008 and 2009. It has already been three years since I last came over; indeed time flies. I am glad to see most of you again and I must say I have appreciated all the broad smiles and warm handshakes from each and every one of you. The beauty of our Church lies in its universalism; the fact that from all the corners of the world God calls us to fellowship through His Son and our savior Jesus Christ. You manifest this well through your welcome not only to me but also to all brother priests from other countries who come to minister among you. God bless you abundantly.

Fr. Bob has graciously allowed me to be writing to the bulletin. I am grateful to be given this opportunity to share some of my experiences in my young priestly ministry, which is almost 10 years, with you. In my first few letters, I share with you about my work in the University as chaplain. On the Solemnity of Pentecost, I celebrated my sixth year as a University chaplain. Looking back at the past six years, I thank God for placing me in the heart of the University, where I have ministered to many young men and women who are seeking direction in their life. There is the tendency among the youth to slow down on their spiritual life when they begin to hear so many competing voices that are all seeking not only their attention but also their time and their resources. Sad to say, some fall off the way, when they are consumed by the freedom they enjoy in college. But the good news is that there are many of the youth who still actively and purposefully hold on to God.

My work as a chaplain includes setting aflame the faith of those who are lukewarm so that they come to appreciate the beauty of the Catholic faith, so that they will develop their personal faith. What I have come to realize is that many young men and women come to appreciate their faith in God if they do not perceive it in abstract terms but in concrete terms. They get more committed and dedicated when they see their personal need for God. Many of our youth still desire God; like the Psalmist says... as the deer yearns for running streams, so my soul thirsts for you my God...(Psalm 42:1); they still hunger for God. All they need is the right guidance to help them find answers to their faith issues. They want to own their faith. It is not enough for them to say, my parents were Catholic, or I was born Catholic. At this stage of their lives they are asking the WHYS? It is not so much as to telling them this is what we have always been doing in the Church. It is about telling them why we do what we do, and to give them the Scriptural and traditional basis for what we do.

To be continued next week ...

Religious Freedom

Understanding the Basics ▪ Defending a Right Speaking for the Church: Our Shepherds (6 of 7)

Our Catholic faith is clear: Christ is present in his Church. What seems to many a mere institution is in fact a holy people. It is a mystical body that has Christ as its head. It is a pilgrim people that journeys to the Father. By baptism, it is us. And by Christ's design, it is hierarchically ordered. This order, like any good order, ensures unity, vitality, and growth. Out of love, the Lord Jesus gave us, his body, overseers to teach, govern, and sanctify. Striving to be faithful imitators of Christ the Good Shepherd, those overseers, the bishops, lay down their lives in service so that God's people may be built up and Christ proclaimed.

This basic teaching of our faith is important to remember amid the current conversation surrounding the HHS mandate. After all, there are many voices in the debate, even in the Catholic fold, and the tendency today is to treat the voice of the bishops as one among many. To do so though is to forget their Christ-given place among us. Bishop Murphy reminds us that the bishops speak for the Church. "There are many opinions among Catholics," he says, "but if you want to know what the Church teaches and what her faith demands, ask the bishops who, alone as the successors of the apostles in union with the pope, are the ones who can be trusted to offer, not an opinion, but the authentic teaching of the Catholic Church."

To assist them in their role as shepherds of the flock, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops formed an Ad Hoc Committee for Religious Liberty in September 2011. The committee was charged with identifying threats made towards religious freedom and addressing the profound impact those threats would have on the faithful. Archbishop-designate William Lori of Baltimore was named as chair. Under his leadership, its members have worked closely with national organizations, charities, ecumenical and inter-religious partners, and scholars to form a united and forceful front in defense of religious freedom for every American. Since January 2012 the committee has clearly articulated the specific ways in which the HHS mandate poses serious threats to America's heritage of religious freedom and has shown how the mandate's regulations impact Catholic institutions.

Recognizing the importance of educating the faithful in this matter, the committee has provided on its website various resources and legislative updates to help Catholics around the country stay informed. Most recently, the committee has issued a guiding document entitled Our First, Most Cherished Liberty: A Statement on Religious Liberty. In that statement, the overall sentiment is made clear in the opening lines: "We are Catholics. We are Americans. We are proud to be both... To be Catholic and American should mean not having to choose one over the other."

St. Vincent de Paul Society

In the Gospel, Jesus says: "This is how it is with the reign of God. A man scatters seed on the ground. He goes to bed and gets up day after day. Through it all the seed sprouts and grows without his knowing how it happens." Through your almsgiving you are sowing seeds that grow far greater than you know. The coins placed in the St. Vincent de Paul Poor Box bring Christ love and compassion to the poor.

Thank you for all your support!

Furniture and financial donations are always welcome. You are too! Come join the St. Vincent de Paul Society and be a communal part of your parish. Call 822-3132.
