Take Five for Faith

Sunday, July 13, 2014

One of the little miracles of faith is its power to make strangers into family. People who might never have known or even chosen to be with one another find themselves together in parishes, prayer groups, Bible study circles, the R.C.I.A., and communities of faith. It's a visible sign of Christ's selfless love going out to those who otherwise would not be connected and bringing them together in bonds of concern and support. The "other" becomes a "sister" or "brother." Do something today for one of your "siblings."

Monday, July 14

Memorial of St. Kateri Tekakwitha

Saint Kateri was born in 1656 in a Mohawk village in present-day upstate New York, and when she was 4 she contracted the smallpox virus that Europeans carried with them upon arrival. Her parents and brother died; she survived but with a badly scarred face and impaired eyesight. Because of her poor vision, Kateri was named "Tekakwitha," which means "she who bumps into things." But one thing she saw clearly was her vocation to a consecrated life. She was baptized and lived out her brief life joyfully serving the children and elderly members in a Christian mission. Respond to hardship by seeing the deeper calling to which you are invited.

Tuesday, July 15

Memorial of St. Bonaventure

Saint Bonaventure, a friend and biographer of Saint Francis of Assisi, is also a Doctor of the church, a person of great holiness with deep insight into faith and tradition who wrote explaining these truths to others. His spirit is caught in this saying attributed to him: "Three things are necessary to everyone: . . . truth of faith which brings understanding; love of Christ which brings compassion; endurance of hope which brings perseverance." No adult, he said, is saved unless they have faithful understanding in their minds, loving compassion in their hearts, and enduring perseverance in their actions.

Memorial of Our Lady of Mount Carmel

You know Mary by many titles—Mother of God, Star of the Sea, and Queen of Peace to name a few. Mary's titles say something about her, just as your own titles reflect aspects of your identity: sibling, parent, spouse, teacher, clerk, caregiver, peacemaker. At times titles may feel limiting. They might seem too defining or confining to particular roles. Yet look to Mary—Our Lady of Good Counsel, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Theotokos or "God-Bearer"—whose titles, like your own, speak to the expansiveness of faith-filled lives.

Thursday, July 17

It's mid-July; time for vacating the hectic pace you live for three seasons of the year. Even if for only one day, you need to retreat, to take time away. As poet Maya Angelou advised: "Each person deserves a day away in which no problems are confronted, no solutions searched for. Each of us needs to withdraw from the cares which will not withdraw from us." Start your day(s) of rest by handing over your burdens to God.

Friday, July 18

Memorial of St. Camillus de Lellis

Hundreds of years before the International Red Cross started helping those wounded in battle, a group of men dedicated themselves to that same cause and they, too, wore large red crosses—the difference being they were members of a religious order established by Saint Camillus de Lellis—a reformed soldier—in the 1580s: the Order of Clerks Regular, Ministers to the Sick (abbreviated as M.I.). To this day Camillians continue to wear the red cross on their habits and to focus on helping those whose wounds attest to broken humanity—unable, or at least unwilling, to turn away from the weapons of war. Be a peacemaker and healer in your own life.

Saturday, July 19

Memorial of the Blessed Virgin Mary

Your final glimpse of a friend or loved one can impress itself powerfully on the mind. While you know the aged aunt isn't still knitting in that favorite chair or the college pal might not be kicking that football around forever, in the land of memory these folks seem frozen in place. Sometimes, of course, there's perfect unity between memory and reality. Mary of Nazareth is last seen in the New Testament praying with the church on Pentecost morning. And if you seek her intercession, you'll find she's still there.

There will be youth group this Sunday, July 13, from 6pm-8pm in the youth center for an ice cream social! All are welcome!

For an updated schedule of youth group events join our Facebook page 'St. Boniface Martyr Youth Group' or email the youth minister, Chris, at stbonym@gmail.com
