America's First Freedom: Religious Liberty

America's religious freedom was assured to all generations by the careful crafting of the 1st amendment of the Bill of Rights. The robust freedom of religion envisioned by the founders has allowed our country to flourish without the religious strife seen elsewhere in the world. Americans were to be forever free to follow their conscience in the service of their God and maintain a morality that would sustain our constitutional freedoms. One of our Founding Fathers, John Adams, said, "Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other."

As stated by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops: "That is our American heritage, our most cherished freedom. It is the first freedom because if we are not free in our conscience and our practice of religion, all other freedoms are fragile. If citizens are not free in their own consciences, how can they be free in relation to others, or to the state? If our obligations and duties to God are impeded, or even worse, contradicted by the government, then we can no longer claim to be a land of the free, and a beacon of hope for the world."

The period of June 21 to July 4, 2014 has been designated by the Bishops of the United States as the Fortnight For Freedom, a time of prayer, information and action in defense of religious liberty. Increasingly aggressive denials of religious freedom are found on college campuses, in the military, in the marketplace, workplace and social services. Since January of 2012 we have seen the vise that is the HHS mandate, sometimes called the "Abortion Pill Mandate", tightening around our Catholic institutions... a vise that, left unchecked, will crush the life and liberty out of Catholic practices and institutions in a way unimagined by us all.

In opposition to this government mandate coming out of the Affordable Care Act, approximately 96 lawsuits representing over 300 plaintiffs have been filed, including by the Diocese of Rockville Centre which joined with the Archdiocese of New York to protect our 1st amendment religious freedom.

During this Fortnight we must pray together that we might stand together in strength and courage with our faith in God and our love of America's freedoms guiding the actions we must take. Thomas Jefferson said, "The God who gave us life gave us liberty". These rights to life and liberty are not ours to lose. They were gifted to us by God and conveyed to us by our forefathers. We are this day charged as rightful stewards to defend these rights for future generations.

Fortnight events in the Diocese of Rockville Centre include:

Bishop Murphy will celebrate the opening Mass which marks the beginning of the Fortnight on June 21 at 5pm at the St. Agnes Cathedral, 29 Quealy Pl, Rockville Centre, NY 11570.

Father Philip K. Eichner, President of Kellenberg High School and Chairman of the Board of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights will be the distinguished guest speaker of Catholics for Freedom of Religion on Wed., June 25, 7:00pm at the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception, 440 West Neck Road, Huntington, NY 11743

The second annual rally, "Religious Freedom: Our First Amendment Right" will be held Sat., June 28 at 10am in the auditorium of St. John the Baptist High School, 1170 Montauk Hwy, West Islip, NY 11795. You are invited to join in praying the Rosary in public prayer and witness in front of the school after the rally.

Bishop Brennan will celebrate the closing Mass of the Fortnight at 12:15pm on July 4 at the St. Agnes Cathedral, 29 Quealy Pl, Rockville Centre, NY 11570.

TAKE FIVE FOR FAITH

Sunday, June 1: Seventh Sunday of Easter

Howard Thurman, the theologian, activist, and mentor of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., once observed: “Don’t ask what the world needs. Ask what makes you come alive, and go do it. Because what the world needs are people who have come alive.” That may sound “selfish”: When you’re discerning the best way to serve, shouldn’t you start with any of the world’s many great needs rather than your own? The world, however, has enough problems to go around. Your response will be most effective when it grows out of what animates you in a deep way. As the Easter Season draws to a close, there can be no better witness to the risen Jesus than to follow his way in your way. (For the Solemnity of the Ascension of the Lord, see PrepareTheWord.com.)

Memorial of St. Marcellinus and St. Peter

We know little of third-century martyrs Marcellinus and Peter, but they are included in the Roman Martyrology, a listing that represents the collective history of witness and sacrifice of some 7,000 martyrs over the centuries. First published in 1583 and revised extensively in recent decades to make it more historically accurate, the Martyrology accompanies us through the weekdays of the church year to remind you of the countless women and men who died so that faith might live into your own age. Honor their sacrifice in the way you live your own life.

Tuesday, June 3

Memorial of St. Charles Lwanga and companions

“The blood of martyrs is the seed of Christians,” wrote early church father Tertullian. Certainly that truism is borne out in the history of the church in Africa. Speaking of Saint Charles Lwanga and the martyrs of Uganda in his “Word on Fire” video series, Father Robert Barron wonders if those first Christians of 19th-century Uganda could have imagined that one day Africa would have nearly 400 million Christians and that Uganda itself would have the largest percentage of professed Christians of any nation in Africa. In weakness, strength; in defeat, victory: These are the unexpected lessons of Christianity that spur the growth of new disciples. Give witness to those truths in your own life by not letting your shortcomings and failures have the last word.

Wednesday, June 4

“Angel of God / My guardian dear / To whom his love / Commits me here / Ever this day / Be at my side / To light and guard / To rule and guide.” That angels watch over you is not only a comforting childhood notion that found its way into quaint rhyme. Angels who act as guardians are found throughout the Old and New Testaments. According to Saint Jerome: “How great the dignity of the soul, since each one has from his birth an angel commissioned to guard it.” That’s how special you are to God. Do you remember to think of yourself as such?

Thursday, June 5

Memorial of St. Boniface

What we now call Europe began to take its earliest form nearly 1,500 years ago, and Winfrid of Wessex, an Anglo-Saxon missionary known to us as Saint Boniface, was one of those to help shape it. Bringing Christianity to what today is Germany, he helped form alliances and reform dioceses, laying the groundwork for church-state relations that would shape western Christianity for centuries. He gave his life for this important work. To what will you give yours?

Friday, June 6

Every five minutes a Christian dies for their faith. Such persecution is a tragic reminder of the radical nature of Jesus’ call to love. Answering this call means feeding your neighbor and offering forgiveness when bitterness seems like an easier option. Jesus asks his followers over and over, “Do you love me?” Every day is a chance to respond to that question; martyrdom is not essential, but faith in a living God does require giving your life nonetheless. In what ways are you being called to give life in the name of your faith?

Saturday, June 7

Celebrity gossip is so pervasive that it’s almost hard to avoid. How much do you know about the personal lives of Kim Kardashian, Brad and Angelina, and Britney Spears? Sure, these people invite the public into their lives for profit, but scrutinizing—even relishing—the foibles of strangers is a slippery slope. Jesus frequently reminded his followers to focus on themselves—their own failings and how they could improve—instead of worrying about those around them. Are you too quick to judge the actions of others?
