Fourth Saturdays of the month beginning with 8am Mass in the chapel. We are called, as Catholic men to become the best version of ourselves by the way we live. GIVEM A BREAK . . . PART II

We barrel along our on highways and interstates at 55 MPH or greater . . . outside the New York area speed limits can increase to 70 or even 75 MPH and even in places where the limit is 55 MPH many people, even maybe ourselves are travelling at speeds greater than that! In most instances, we are simply trying to keep up with the flow of traffic. Perhaps it is also because we are a people are basically impatient, not only with ourselves, but those around us as well! Suddenly the electronic information board present on most expressways and highways has a warning for us, CONSTRUCTION AHEAD, REDUCE SPEED! Generally speaking we are mandated to slow down to about 40 miles per hour. Trying to be law abiding and drive safely, I will reduce my speed, but I cannot tell you the countless times I have seen others whizzing by me at excessive, and sometimes dangerous speeds. As drivers get closer to the roadwork, they usually see the all too familiar orange construction signs that read: REDUCE SPEED, GIVEM A BREAK! These signs are reminding drivers that human beings are working on this site, and to take care and be careful we do not hit them or cause injury to them or other drivers . . . in other words have a little respect, compassion and feelings for these individuals who are only try to make our roads smoother and safer. Unfortunately very few people seem to care; however, they would care if it were their family member or friend working on this project. We seem to live in a world where nobody matters except the self.

Suppose our God felt that way? How many breaks has God given you or me? How many mistakes, mess-ups, screw-ups, poor choices have we made, many of which could be categorized as SIN. Yet, our God never tires in forgiving us and letting us start anew. In St. Matthew's Gospel, Jesus is asked how many times we need to forgive (or in other words give someone a break). His answer is 70X7, which by the way is NOT to be taken literally as 490. In the ancient world 70X7 meant forever, or ALL THE TIME. Because of our human condition it can sometimes be hard to forgive someone who has hurt us deeply, but Jesus Christ calls each one of us to task.

On December 8 of this year, Pope Francis opened up the JUBILEE YEAR OF MERCY IN ROME. This special time in our Church is being celebrated around the world by the Universal Church. In the Apostolic Bull written by the Holy Father he refers to Jesus as "the face of the Father's mercy." We would do well not only in these closing days of Advent, but throughout our lives to contemplate the mystery of mercy. It is a well spring of joy, serenity and peace. It is the ultimate and supreme act in which our God comes to meet us. As Catholic Christians we are about to celebrate the greatest act of our God coming to meet us . . His birth; God taken human flesh, the sublime and profound mystery of the Incarnation. As Catholics, however, Jesus Christ meets us in mystery everyday through the celebration of the Sacraments.

This Tuesday, December 22 at 7:30 PM in Church we will celebrate that Sacrament in which we encounter the tender and loving mercy of our God in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. Several priest confessors will be available for us to encounter the Face of the Father's Mercy in the person of Jesus Christ. God never tires reaching out to us; HE IS ALWAYS READY TO LISTEN, TO FORGIVE AND TO WELCOME US BACK AND ULTIMATELY GIVE US ANOTHER BREAK. Why not give yourselves a break, and celebrate the sacrament of God's mercy and compassion? Like Pope Francis says, "God's mercy is the wellspring of compassion, serenity, joy and peace."

Take Five for Faith

Fourth Sunday of Advent: December 20

John the Baptist didn't waste any time getting started on his life's work of heralding the coming of the Messiah—while still in the womb, he leapt with joy in the presence of his not-yet-born Lord. Some people are blessed to have callings that are a given, but not everyone figures theirs out right away. It can take a long, frustrating time, full of false starts and failures. Trust that those experiences are useful to learning what your true vocation is. God has a plan for you, always has, even before you were in the womb.

Monday, December 21

Feast of St. Peter Canisius

To imagine the life of the 16th-century Dutch Jesuit Peter Canisius, who lived during the height of the Reformation, we might look to our present Pope Francis. Like Francis, Peter lived energetically, but also took to heart the Jesuit pattern of study, reflection, and prayer. For example, the easy way to challenge the thinkers of the Reformation would be to vilify them, but that's where daily "reflection and prayer" produce effects. While his fellow Catholics might attack Protestants such as John Calvin, Peter—as Francis might—said that with such an approach "we do not cure patients, we make them incurable." What is your attitude toward outsiders?

Tuesday, December 22

At this moment, we may well be concerned with last-minute shopping and counting the gifts to be given to family and friends. It is so easy and tempting to get distracted, yet in faith we are called to the corporal works of mercy, such as caring for the poor and lowly and feeding the hungry. In this Year of Mercy, generosity born of mercy for all of God's children should help us reset priorities and make good decisions as we edge nearer to this feast of Incarnation. Our joy then on Christmas Day will bear witness to our belief that "it is in giving that we receive."

Wednesday, December 23

Feast of St. John of Kanty

It seems a little unfair to John Kanty to give him a memorial two days before Christmas. It would be like a child whose birthday is so close to Christmas there might be fewer presents! For John, however, a day and season of giving would be a further incentive to give away the shirt on his back, literally, since his money and clothing were at the disposal of the poor of Krakow, Poland. Even his intellectual gifts, which were many, were at the disposal of others. He was a man who knew how to effect what so many wish were true: that the Christmas spirit abided year-round.

Thursday, December 24

Christmas is near upon us—yet again. With the setting of the sun, the celebrations of the Eve begin. Take a moment, in this Year of Mercy, to remember that God became one with us to show us how to live and to love. Advertising budgets to the contrary, Christmas is not about finding the perfect gift, creating the perfect meal, or sharing the festivities with the perfect family, grateful as we are for all good things in our lives. It is also the season to search for and find the merciful presence of Emmanuel (literally, God-with-us). Take a deep breath and spend a moment in quiet prayer asking for patience and peace in the days to come.

Friday, December 25

Solemnity of the Nativity of the Lord

The word Christmas comes from the Old English words "Cristes moesse," meaning the "mass or festival of Christ." Christmas is not only a time to celebrate the historical birth of Jesus Christ. It is also a wonderful time to consider the ways that we can continue to be bearers of Christ in the world today. How might you do this through your everyday words and actions? In the coming year, how might you proclaim this Good News of great joy in our world?

Saturday, December 26

Feast of St. Stephen, the first martyr

Who's on your personal roster of heroes? Most of us are quick to catalogue figures from the history books: pioneers, leaders, entrepreneurs. Perhaps a few martyrs like Saint Stephen or Oscar Romero, or truth tellers like Nelson Mandela or Cesar Chavez, or often our mothers and fathers. Past heroes aren't enough, however; we too must be counted among the brave. On this second day of Christmas, give the gift of a courageous example, especially to the young, the weak, and those who lack the consolation of faith.
