Are you a prize-winning parent? Do you know someone who deserves recognition for nurturing the future of society? Every fourth Sunday of July since 1994, our country has celebrated Parents' Day. Nationwide, parents are nominated for exemplary service and dedication to their families and to the broader local community. Of course, most parents have humbler aspirations than garnering a trophy for their trouble. They hope simply to nurture honest, decent adults who feel empathy and treat others kindly. Celebrate the courage of parents and support the essential work they do.

Monday, July 25, 2022

Distinguished poet and scholar Sister Madeleva Wolff, C.S.C. was the author of more than 20 books and the third president of her alma mater, Saint Mary's College, in Notre Dame, Indiana, where she served for 26 years. She accomplished much—but like most of us, struggled with how much more there always was to do. She wrote, "Thinking of things to be done, hopes to be realized, persons to be helped, I say laughingly that I go to a multitude of funerals daily, burying so many deceased projects, so much of what I have had to let die and must bury without regret." On this, the anniversary of her death, pray for the grace to surrender to God when you are overwhelmed with busyness.

Tuesday, July 26, 2022

At a time when grandparents shoulder an ever-greater role in the nurturing of children—helping young families navigate the many complex realities of modern life—it's fortunate we have an international Catholic Grandparents Association, founded in 2009, to help fulfill a dual mission: "passing on the faith and keeping prayer at the heart of family life." With Saints Joachim and Anne as patrons, the association hosts a podcast and encourages parishes to develop a thriving ministry for and by grandparents, recognizing their unique evangelizing presence. Remembering grandparents, pray today the official prayer of the 2022 World Meeting of Families.

Wednesday, July 27, 2022

Racial tension, economic unrest, and summer heat have fueled countless murderous altercations throughout America's short history. July 27, 1919 marks the start of one of the most violent and tragic race riots sparked by the stoning and drowning of a young black boy in Chicago who inadvertently swam into an area of Lake Michigan reserved for "whites only."

By the end, 38 people were dead, 537 injured, and 1,000 families made homeless. These statistics are stacked upon decades before and after this date of the extreme violence that plagues our nation. In their 1994 statement, Confronting a Culture of Violence: A Catholic Framework for Action, the U.S. Catholic Bishops conclude that "our society needs both more personal responsibility and broader social responsibility to overcome the plague of violence in our land and the lack of peace in our hearts."

Thursday, July 28, 2022

An accomplished Catholic writer used to joke that "God" was the worst nickname ever: The term had acquired way too much baggage for him. Fortunately, the church has dozens of terms and metaphors for God, including the vivid image of God as potter. The reality of God is beyond any one term or comparison, so it is fortunate that the Christian tradition gives us so many. Light, Rock, Creator, Wisdom, Savior, Shepherd, Fortress, Vine, Shield, and on and on. What terms help bring God alive for you?

Friday, July 29, 2022

It's not easy to picture God as one of our friends. We can't just call God up to meet us for a cup of coffee. But friendship has many characteristics that help us better understand our own relationship with God. "Friendship," writes Pope Francis, "is no fleeting or temporary relationship, but one that is stable, firm and faithful, and matures with the passage of time. A relationship of affection that brings us together and a generous love that makes us seek the good of our friend" (Christus vivit §152). For further reflection, look to Jesus himself and his friends Martha, Mary, and Lazarus.

Saturday, July 30, 2022

Peter Chrysologus (c.380–c.450) is the hands-down champion homilist of our tradition. Known as the "doctor of homilies," his name literally means "golden-tongued." Have you been moved by a great homily? Pope Francis (Evangelii Gaudium, 135) said that "The homily can actually be an intense and happy experience of the Spirit, a consoling encounter with God's word, a constant source of renewal and growth." Great homilies can be life changing, bringing about a deep conversion. May you encounter a great homily and be touched by the golden word of God.

Thank You

Thank you all so much for the amazing welcome you have given me over these last couple of weeks!

Everyone I have met so far has been kind and friendly and I have truly enjoyed our conversations. You have an amazing community here at St. Boniface, and I very much feel like you all have invited me to be a part of it. I am looking forward to getting to know you all better as I settle into my role as your Pastor.

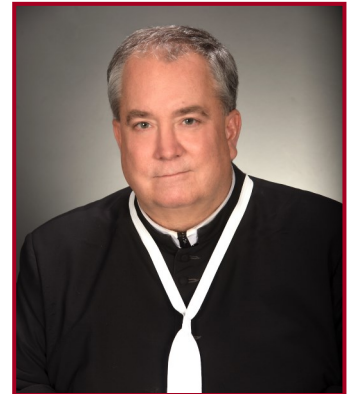

Some of you have been asking about my religious community, the Canons Regular of St. Augustine. I am putting together a presentation to give you all a better idea of what the Canons are all about. In the meantime, you can check out our monastery's website at: www.stift-klosterneuburg.at/en. On the website, you can see some nice pictures of our monastery and read about our history.

As I was looking online, I noticed that if you google "Canons Regular of St. Augustine," one of the top search results is the website www.tridentinerite.org - which is a small Sedevacantist group in England (they don't believe that Vatican II was legitimate), who seem to be using our name. This group has NOTHING to do with our community, but I understand now where some of the confusing rumors about us might have come from. The members of our community are obedient to the Church, and fully accept the legitimacy of Vatican II. Yes, even the more traditionally minded ones!

In any case, as soon as I get a presentation put together, I will let you know.

Thanks again for your warm welcome – I am very excited to be here at St Boniface!

Fr. Josef

Survey Says

In a recent survey of a broad spectrum of Catholics, more than 70 percent of the survey participants have invited someone to consider religious life.

Ideally the promotion of vocations is the responsibility of the entire church, not only of the clergy or religious themselves.

Pope Francis promulgated the Year of Consecrated Life to raise the church's awareness about the importance of this unique vocation within the communion of vocation we all share as baptized Christians. What a gift and blessing for the entire church!
