Reflections on the Readings

The Easter Message

Christian parents have the joy of teaching the faith to their children. When they do so, they tell the story in its simplest terms. Jesus came from God. He performed many miracles. His enemies put him to death on a cross. God raised him up again. These are the core elements of the story of Jesus. When parents tell them, they renew their own faith.

On the first Pentecost Sunday, Peter found himself a situation that called for the core message. He stood up in Jerusalem before a group of his peers and preached. What could he say? He just told the basics. Jesus came with a mission and he rose from the dead.

Some people are afraid they do not know enough about their faith to teach others. They shy away from volunteering. Yet the core message of our belief is contained in the creed we know so well and recite so regularly. And if the faith has truly taken firm hold of our hearts, we will be unable to keep quiet about its message.

Christian parents do this best, but we are called in many ways to proclaim the simple message and core belief: Jesus came from God, and he is risen!

Priceless Friends

Some things truly are priceless. You may pay a lot of your hard-earned income to have a home, furnish it for comfort, feed the people who live there, and enjoy the amenities of life. You know the cost of the things you own.

But some things are priceless—the children who play, the people who love you, experiences of friendship, the wonder of creation, fresh air, freedom, and faith.

At Easter it becomes evident that something else is priceless. We are. Jesus offered himself up to death for something that was priceless to him. The First Letter of Peter says, “You were ransomed from your futile conduct . . . not with perishable things like silver or gold but with the precious blood of Christ.” Jesus’ own life was more precious than silver and gold, and he gave it up for what he valued: humanity.

At Easter we learn again how precious is human life. We come to a new realization of who we are and how much we mean to the God who made us. We are loved.

As we look around at other people, we see some we know well and some who are strangers. We see people we love and people we ignore. We see people in need and people of plenty. But if we see them as God sees them, we see people of value. Let us live in reverence of the life we have and the life we see. It is priceless.
